ABOUT THE SEMINAR:

Research methodology is a way of explaining how a researcher intends to carry out their research. It's a logical, systematic plan to resolve a research problem. A methodology details a researcher's approach to the research to ensure reliable, valid results that address their aims and objectives. It encompasses what data they're going to collect and where from, as well as how it's being collected and analyzed. First, research is becoming a more complex, collaborative activity. Second, there is a growing focus on the real-world application, societal impact, and commercial return of academic research. Third, technology has growing importance as a tool to enable more complex and collaborative research across disciplines.

This seminar will explore these recent trends in research methodology and offer recommendations for how institutions can better support the research taking place.

TOPICS TO BE COVERED:

- Size and Scope of the Research Enterprise
- Complexity of Collaboration
- Regulation and Accountability
- Industry-Sponsored Research
- Information Technologies in Research
